

Sirius 6200 Series

Unmatched lifetime durability,
virtually maintenance-free

6200 Series
High Density Polyethylene
1 3/4" Sections

Durability, Convenience, Beauty

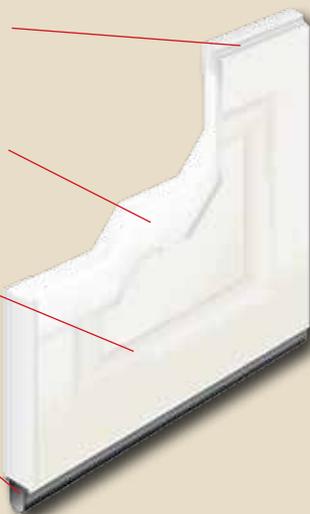

The Hörmann Sirius 6200 Series combines designer elegance with exceptional quality, to add lasting curb appeal to your home. The durable high-density polyethylene (HDPE) door panels are virtually maintenance-free and will never need painting. Rigid reinforcements provide structural strength to last a lifetime.

Vinyl weather seal between sections and panels helps keep the weather out.

Polystyrene insulation with laminated backer provides an energy efficient barrier to the weather with an R-value of 5.0.

High density polyethylene, woodgrain textured panel for strength and corrosion resistance.

The factory-installed U-shaped vinyl bottom weatherseal is attached to an aluminum retainer that helps keep the weather out.
